

Hail and Well Met!!

Well mother nature got us again. The first LOH Ride for the year was drizzled out. I managed to get a couple of days of riding in this week. It was an awesome day on Sunday when James and I pre rode the Uvalde ride. Monday was great as well and I hope you all had a chance to get out and ride those days. The weather folks are saying we will have good weather for this Saturday so Uvalde here we come! (fingers crossed, arms crossed, legs crossed, knock on wood, etc.)

Just a quick reminder the survey is still open. We have received many good ideas and some great feedback. I encourage you to take the 5 minutes or less and let us know your thoughts. It is only 8 questions and you can skip the ones you don't want to answer. It will be available until Saturday, February 26th, 10:00 p.m.
